

Residential - Multi-Family

Multi-family housing is an investment for the owner, a home for the resident, and a part of the public realm of any community or campus. Peckham & Wright Architects has designed duplexes, fourplexes, apartment homes, and whole apartment villages.

There are many reasons for multi-family housing including cost savings, energy efficiency, less maintenance, short term living quarters, more efficient land use, and convenience to work or school. In every case there is an advantage to good design and sound construction.
