Peckham & Wright Architects, Inc. welcomes local Architect Stephen Bourgeois to their design team. Stephen has an undergraduate degree from the University of Missouri-Columbia, and received a Masters of Architecture at the University of Colorado in Denver. After practicing ten years in Denver, he returned to Columbia and opened his own company in 1997.

Since joining PWA, Stephen has taken on Project Management duties which include the planning, design, and oversight of projects for the firm. He specializes in producing dynamic and innovative designs that reveal available resources within a structure. This, combined with his previous experience with Historic Preservation and comprehensive knowledge of construction, will enhance the firm's ability to identify the inherent details and best solutions for clients.

Previous projects include the Berry Building on Walnut and Orr Street, the Tiger Hotel Lobby and Ninth Floor Renovation, Wilson Fitness Centers, and several restaurant renovations including Bleu Restaurant, Bangkok Gardens, and Les Bourgeois Winery and Bistro.

PWA is an award-winning architecture, planning and design firm located in downtown Columbia. The firm is currently overseeing the construction the Columbia Public Schools Career Center and the City of Columbia's Walnut Parking Garage. The firm's commissions include educational, corporate, healthcare, government, and athletic facilities.
